

CASE STUDY: DAYDREAM ISLAND RESORT, QUEENSLAND

‘Daydream Island Resort is back for 2019 with a stylish new look’

Daydream Island Resort has reopened after being closed for nearly a year. The resort was badly damaged after Cyclone Debbie in March 2017 and for the past 24 months has undergone considerable renovations. This was undertaken by Hunt Design who designed the space to perfectly reflect the relaxed, beachy and quintessentially Australian lifestyle.

Project Brief:

To redevelop the entire resort, which included a variety of new hospitality spaces and upgrading 227 resort rooms. Signature’s custom carpet, carpet tiles and LVT Collection were selected to provide the contemporary foundation that the space required.

Project Challenges:

Island developments always present a logistical challenge. The core building structures were in place, so a main focus was around waste material and sustainability. Hunt Design specifically wanted to work with companies that had good environmental policies, utilized recycled materials and were low VOC. Signature Floors were chosen by Hunt Design as they were very conscious of picking products that were fit for purpose, exceptional quality and provided a luxurious, timeless appeal.

Why Signature Floorconcepts:

Hunt Design were confident when working with Signature that they were dealing with a company that was passionate, accessible and who stand behind their product. Signature Studio’s custom carpet programme allowed for design freedom, while giving the client a feature floor covering at a great price, that was fit for purpose and that they could touch and feel from inception. Due to our large offering of products we were able to provide all the flooring requirements which was highly important. With logistics being a huge part of Island construction for Hunt Design; selecting all floor coverings from a single source was a huge advantage both with program and administration.

Client Feedback:

Hunt Design stated it was a pleasure working with the whole team at Signature, due to the passion for product and the level of service.
