

'A modern working space for a global firm'

As New Zealand's only manufacturer of methanol, Methanex wanted a stylish design for their new Auckland offices.

STACK Design was engaged early on in the process to design and deliver a contemporary working environment.

STACK specifically selected Botanica Planks as they are designed to echo the beauty of the great outdoors, with colours chosen directly from nature's own colour book. This works perfectly for the methanex offices as the bright teal highlights reflect the beautiful Auckland skyline and Waitemata harbour, which can be viewed from the building.

Strike Carpet Tiles were also used in breakout spaces for a subtle touch of colour, with a matching blue highlight to Botanica. Both the carpet designs gave a splash of colour without overpowering the space - as well as being innovative and complimentary to the scheme.

Project:

- Methanex Headquarters, Auckland
- Designer: STACK Design
- Product: Botanica Carpet Planks and Strike Carpet

Project Brief:

- To create a modern-day workplace for an exciting international organisation, which reflects their New Zealand location.

Project Challenges:

- The Methanex global brand message had to be translated throughout the 395sqm floorspace, with a focus on reflecting the New Zealand landscape through the interiors and furnishings.

Why Signature Floorconcepts:

- Signature Floors were chosen for their broad product choice of fashionable collections and modern designs, to work seamlessly with the newly modernised interiors.
- Products and patterns reflect the New Zealand landscape; a key element of the office design.
- In-stock product choice allowed STACK to design without any stylistic limits.

Client Feedback:

- Lara Stancich, a designer at Stack Interiors stated "the carpet looks fab" and the client was overjoyed with the end result.
